A World Within

MASACKSIC 1989

Longmeadow High School
Longmeadow, Massachusetts
Volume XXXIII

Our World

Longmeadow High School is our world - a world in which we grow, make friends, learn, and most of all, succeed. Each one of us is an individual, and yet we are conformists, contributing to the togetherness that makes us a school united. Each year we redefine ourselves, moving from a naive world to a world of stature, seeking the recognition that we deserve. Our social life picks up where our academic life leaves off - making us a "well-rounded" world. Through our involvement in activities, we have experienced many different worlds - and this is where the yearbook comes in. This year we have tried to bring together the many worlds of our high school into one - A World Within.

We hope that you enjoy the book.

Respectfully,
Nancy Damon and Lou Spelios
Editors-in-Chief

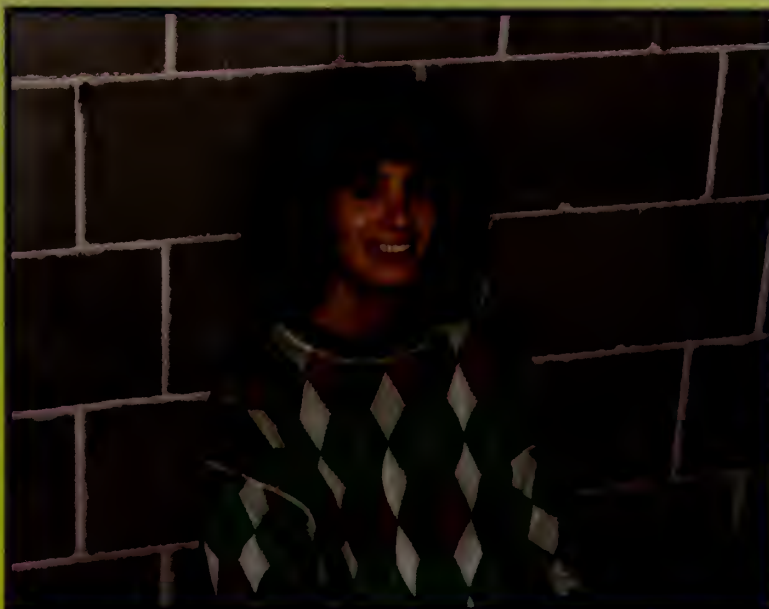

Top- Senior Jen Masi looks determined to make her mark in this world.

From Your Advisers:

Rarely do we remember the exact words a teacher speaks in class. We might remember a particular class, probably because something outrageously funny happened, such as the time my high school physics teacher fell into his wastebasket. I once had the experience of listening to an ex-student say, "Remember the day you told us . . . ". I sat astonished, hearing something I could not have said. On a day to day basis students frequently say, "You never told us that," especially concerning homework assignments. Our memories are devious little demons, masters at alteration.

One of the aids we have to clear our clouded remembrances is a yearbook. And here, written for perpetuity in words unavoidably mine, are some thoughts for you. I sincerely hope that some part of your high school years has touched you in a positive way, that a person, a staff member or a fellow student, or an experience, in or outside of the classroom, has given you some fuel for life.

When I was a Freshman in college I had a botany teacher whose style and words are still with me. In a lecture to 2,000 students in a large auditorium he once spoke poetry. He said, "Gone has captured our yesterdays. Tomorrow is forbidden and foreboding beyond. Why not create a mass of proud todays, so that when now becomes then its possessor will be pleased." I gift you with these words, exactly his, as I know them to be.

-Linda McShane

Class of '89:

Over the past four years, I have watched you strive to succeed in the classroom and on the playing fields, handling your successes and disappointments with growing confidence and maturity. You have become stronger individuals, and by doing so, have strengthened yourselves as friends and as a class. In these times of the "me generation" my wish for you is that you are able to keep hold of the valuable friendships you have made at L.H.S. In the words of Edgar A. Guest:

I hold no dream of fortunate vast
Nor seek undying fame
I do not ask when life is past
That many know my name

I may not own the skill to rise
To glory's topmost height,
Nor win a place among the wise,
But I can keep the right.

And I can live my life on earth
Contented to the end,
If but a few shall know my worth
And proudly call me friend.

Best of Luck!
— Linda Walker

Ms. McShane, Mrs. Walker

Dedication

The Class of 1989 has been very fortunate to have Ms. Linda McShane as its adviser for four years. With her strong support, we have succeeded in all that we have attempted to do.

The entire school has also benefitted from her outstanding contributions. This is Ms. McShane's tenth year advising Impressions, the school's literary magazine. In addition, she is the Senior Level Leader in the English Department and developed the Drama and Creative Writing II Programs. In these classes, she has transferred her high motivation and knowledge to her students.

Ms. McShane's love of teaching is not limited to her elective classes, however. She also teaches an AP English class and an English IV Synthesis class. In these classes, the relaxed atmosphere that she projects allows everyone to feel comfortable; students are always encouraged to express their ideas.

With this in mind, we, the Class of 1989, are proud to dedicate our yearbook to Ms. Linda McShane—a teacher whose respect and admiration is unequalled.

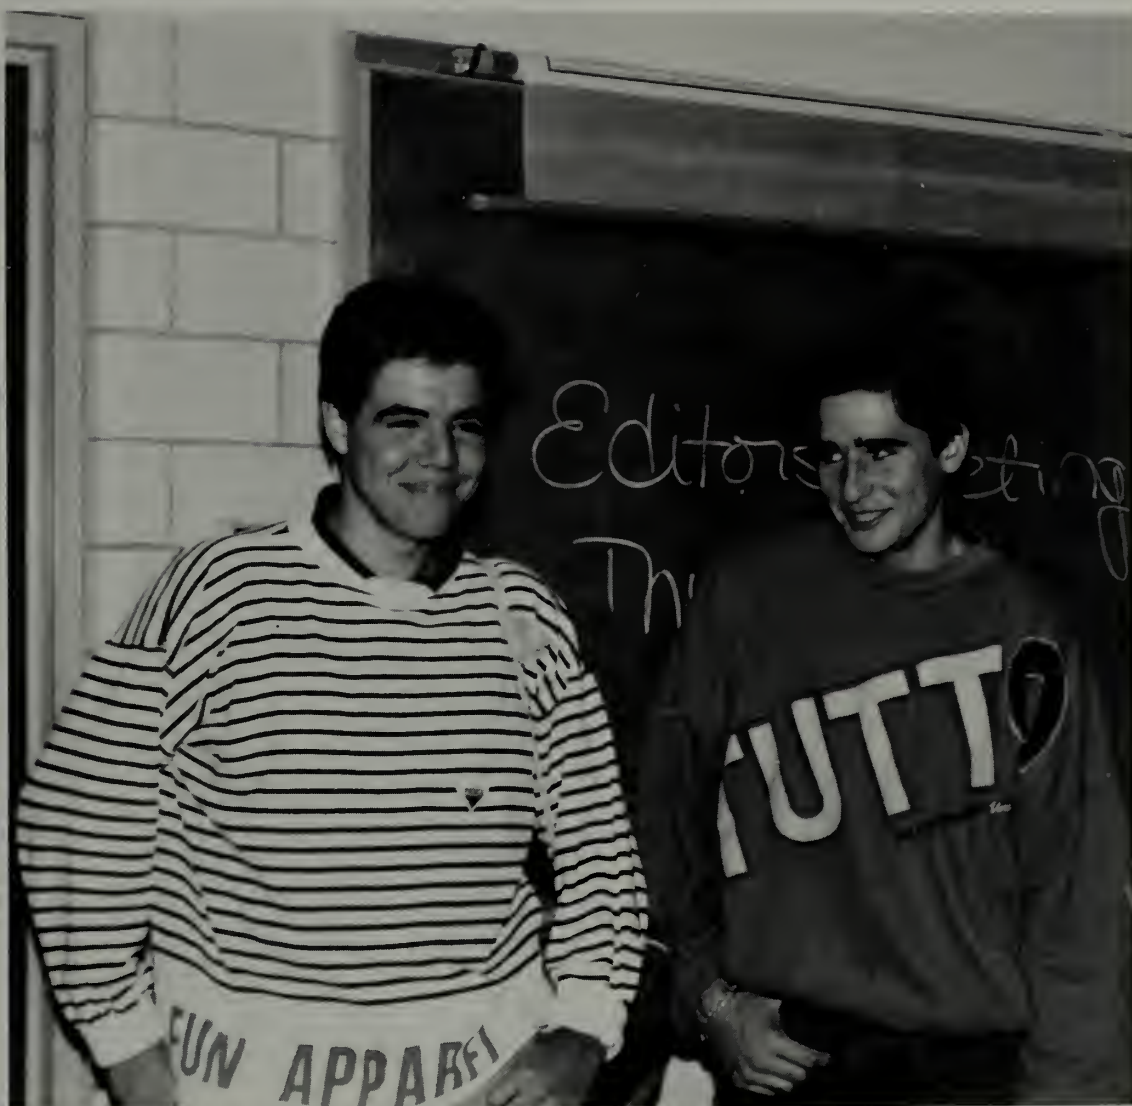

A Different World

Seniors

The Class of 1989 - we are "A Different World." Different from all the other classes before and after us, because we are the last class of the 80's - an end of a generation. Within our class, we are many different individuals. Each of us has his own talents, skills, dreams, and hopes. The Class of 1989 will be remembered for its size (the last of the large classes) and for the beginning of two new policies: the end of the Senior Lounge and the abolishment of open parking. Throughout our four years here, we have made new friendships, strengthened old ones, and, most of all, become a unique class. We are the Class of 1989, and we are "A Different World."

Class Council

The group was silent as a distinguished young student took his stand at the podium...was this the final jurisdiction in court? The presidential election outcome? A religious speaker? No, it was Gary Chase, the Senior class president! Backed by a 'cabinet' consisting of Simon Hess (executive V.P.), Barbara Ryan (committee V.P.), Carrie Atkins (secretary), and Mike Krumsiek (treasurer), the Senior council consistently maintained their reputation for providing the Class of 1989 with fun events and programs that made this year the best! Although the goals of this year's were not extremely varied from the past, it was evident that the ideas they had in mind were sure to be enjoyable.

The main goal of the year was to unite all the students as we approach the caps and gowns of our graduation, but it was not all serious issues such as those! The semi-formal, a Senior trip to High Meadows, and the prom made this year a success.

All in all, we will fondly look back upon the progress and accomplishments of the Senior class council. As Barbara Ryan stated, "The more people who are involved, the better." That was how the year was made interesting for all members of the Class of '89.

Colleges

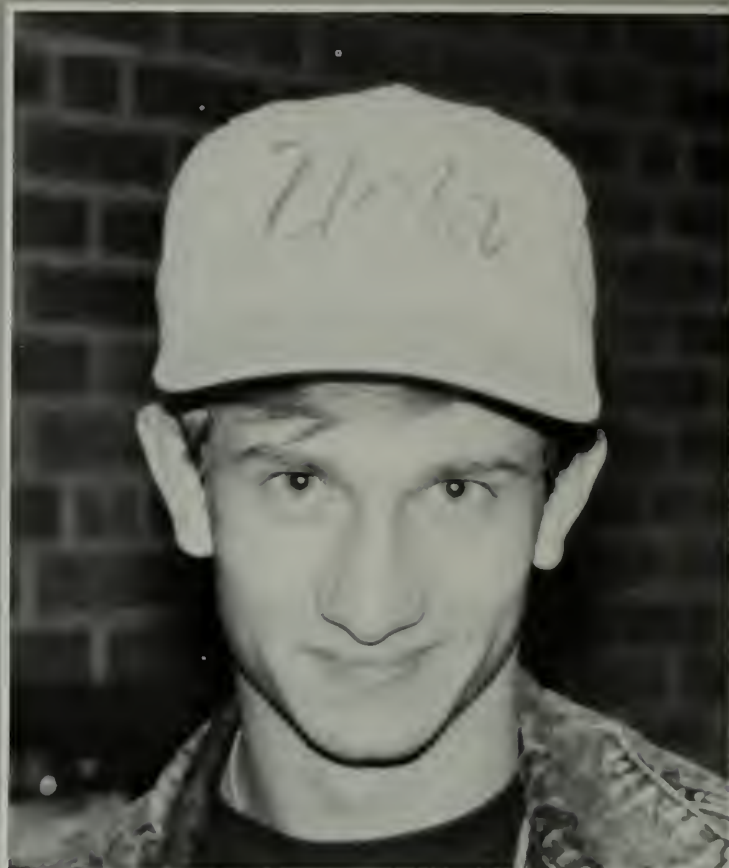

Question 15: "Write a brief sketch of your life in the space provided . . ." What?! The pencil slips nervously through your sweaty fingers. It's hard to believe that a question like this will determine whether or not you will be attending the college of your choice!

This year, the class of 1989 is heading in many diverse directions. Art schools, technical institutes, party campuses, and the traditional ivy-leagues are being tread upon by the inquisitive, excited, often undecided LHS Seniors.

It is the most stressful time during the typical 'breeze-easy' year of the Senior, and the most dreaded! But an hour of answering questions is a small price to pay for entering a college and experiencing the best four years of your life!

Daisies "Smoked" Them Weeds 22-16

It's Eight O'Clock on a Saturday morning; there's a bunch of girls playing football and guys dressed as cheerleaders?! Maybe this would be common in the year 2000 when roles have changed - but on November 19, 1988, it was a pretty unusual sight! No need to worry, the fans knew what it was and why they were there . . . It was the Annual Daisy/Weeds football game!

Similar to previous years, it was the time when girls got to strut their football skills, and the guys could live out their wildest fantasies - dressed in short skirts and floppy wigs. Unlike the past however, the Weeds did not win. For the first time in seven years, Weeds coaches Mr. Reilly, Mr. Berte, John Murphy, Matt Sylvia, John Rampone, and Jay Biscotti were not able to uphold the traditional Weeds victory. Despite the loss, breakaway touchdowns were made by Sara Ledewitz and Kat Moynahan.

On the other side of the fence,

Mr. Clark, Damon Cartelli, Brent Perlmutter, Chris Winn, and Chris Crosby were reveling in the Daisy success. "It was time to change history," stated Perlmutter, "Daisies grow in grass where Weeds can only die!" Whether or not botanical references could be applied - it was super touchdowns by Kristin Bergin, Natalie Lev, and Chrissy Ferioli (to name a few) that really pulled the team to victory.

If watching the game wasn't enough fun, the humorous cheerleaders truly added to the whole spirit of the game. "It's so funny to see the Senior guys dressed like that," laughed one early-morning onlooker, "sometimes you can't even recognize your friends - that's how into 'it' they get! It's an added surprise to new-comers at the game!"

For both sexes and all the bleacher supporters, the 1988 Daisy/Weeds game was a "mowed-over" success!

The Man Who Thinks He Can
If you think you are beaten, you are;
If you think you dare not, you don't.
If you'd like to win, but think you can't,
It's almost a cinch you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you're lost,
For out in the world we find Success begins with a fellow's will;
It's all in the state of mind.

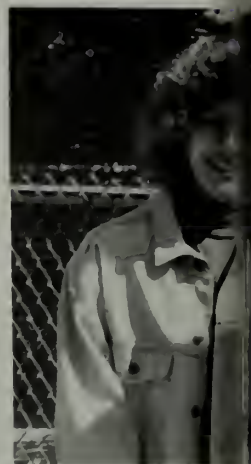

If you think you're outclassed, you are;
You've got to think high to rise.
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize.
Life's battles don't always go
To the stronger or faster man;
But soon or late the man who wins
Is the one who thinks he can.

Underclass

The Underclassmen - always striving towards excellence and recognition in all that they do. Their never-ceasing drive to grow into the glory-filled shoes of Seniors is at times marked with disappointment, but in the end, they always succeed. Each year they make progress - from naive Freshmen and ascertaining Sophomores to college - prepped Juniors. They enjoy the steps inbetween - from their first Freshman dance to their Junior-Senior Semi-Formal, as well as the every-day events that constantly mark their lives. They may be called "Underclassmen," but their personality and stature will never be called "underdeveloped."

Ahhh, Junior year. Three-fourth's the way through your high school years, right? Hardly! It seems that all the times that you put off doing homework in the past have caught up with you. Why even do homework the first two years if they give you enough your Junior year to last you for the rest of your life! Is there life after being a Junior? Well, seeing the Seniors is living proof; but doubts will be had. On the positive side, just think of all the supreme honors given to the Junior; no swimming, early release, a sticker to park in the lot, options to take more (or less) classes. Yes, there is hope, a light shining at the end of a dark, depressing tunnel. No, it's not death! It's . . . college tours and books! The arduous task of filling out the applications is not yet upon you (they have to save some hard work for Senior year!), but just the mere thought of going to college is enthralling. No parents, no six-hour school days, no dull weekends!

In reality, it is a long way off-but with only one year left, every tough homework assignment brings you closer to the long-awaited summer and eventually a cap and gown. So stick with those A.P. classes, gym sprints, and semi-formal butterflies, the easy part always comes after the most difficult struggle-Junior year is the struggle-but what's beyond is worth working towards.

The Snow Ball

The weather might not have been so hot on the evening of January 15, but the dance floor at Chez Joseph was steaming! For those who attended the Junior-Senior Semi-Formal, the outdoors might not have even existed. All that seemed to matter was the music, friends, and fun. Most students arrived about ten minutes late, having come from a pre-dance meal. Some opted for the elegant, others for food that they could trust. As one Senior stated, "I took my date to McDonalds' - at least I know she'd find something edible . . . It was fun, except there's ketchup on my coat!" (for obvious reasons, that student will go nameless!) Some were more satisfied eating at a stylish restaurant. "It felt nice to go out to some place unusual. I don't do that often so it was an added touch to the evening," stated one Senior who dined at The Gathering.

Once the kids hit the floor, dinner was just a part of the past. Tunes by old and new favorites dominated the turntables. The swish of black velvet, satin, and taffeta dresses was heard against the tapping of dress shoes and heels. Some danced non-stop to hits like "Wild Thing," "Push It," and Guns N' Roses, while others sat, talked, and had a cooling drink.

Midnight soon arrived and "Stairway to Heaven" drifted out the doors with the students. But no pumpkins and midnight curfews for most! There were parties and socializing that lasted deep into the night.

Musical Greats

Do, re, me, fa . . . So, did you see the LHS Chorus' performances this year? If not, you missed one of the most exciting and productive seasons in our history! The year opened with the Fall concert, where each group displayed their talents with a varied entourage of musical pieces. Lyrics could be seen in their new red shawls, funded by L.E.A.P. (an addition to the usual black robes.) The choruses warmed up the stage for instrumental groups conducted by Mr. Burkle.

Next on the program was the Chamber Music concert. Held in the library for a relaxed atmosphere, individuals were featured in instrumental duets and trios, as well as quartets in string and windwood concertos. Lyrics broke into small groups for multi-lingual madreals, and sang together for a fun, yet classical piece featuring their kazoos!

Despite the chill of winter, the season performance steamed the stage with an exceptionally fine-sounding orchestra. Wind Ensemble's selections were uplifting and melodious. The audience got their first peek at this year's Icantori group, which sang three pieces. Followed by the choruses, the concert ended with the annual rendition of "Lord Bless You and Keep You," where some LHS alumni joined us in harmony to close the evening.

Up In Arms

The beginning of school this year marked the culmination of the LHS parking lot fiasco. New parking spaces were added and taken away again and again. There seemed to be no solution to alleviate the over-crowding problem. Finally, the administration came up with a solution. Only members of the Senior class could park in the lot. Parking students would now need to purchase a permit to do so, and only Seniors could do it! The Junior class, up in arms, protested this new ruling. "Why shouldn't we be able to park?" they asked. "Juniors need cars just as much as Seniors; we have jobs to get to also!" Students could not understand why an ample parking lot was simply no longer adequate. Getting to school in the morning became an inconvenience for entire families.

In November, the administration counted how many permits had been sold and determined that there would be room for the Junior class to park in the lot. Juniors could then purchase permits as well as Seniors. In conclusion, Mr. Teixeira said, "the system is working beautifully." Having the regular parking lot back to normal gave all car-driving kids the ability to park in the school lot and still make it to class on time!

Sophomores

A World Apart

The Sophomore class can be characterized best by the phrase "betwixt and between." We are not new to the school. We know our way around and what we want to do but we can't drive or enjoy other upper-class privileges. There are no early releases for us. We belong to many clubs and partake in many school activities, but generally we are not holding officer positions.

In the fall we have our Sophomore Semi-Formal. Some people bring dates, but many don't. It's difficult to have your parents drive you there, but what choice do we have? We also like to find parties on the weekends, but it's not great riding around on your bike in sub-zero weather! With this kind of handicap, weekend activities are limited, so we spend our Sophomore year counting the days until we become sixteen and receive our licences!

School is merely a continuation of Freshman year. All of us have to take U.S. History I and gym (three times a week!) Classes may seem difficult, but according to the Juniors, they are "NO problem." Unfortunately, the lunches have not improved since last year either. We still wonder if we'll ever reach the day that we will be old enough to sit at that holy 'Senior Table' at the end of the cafeteria!

However, being a Sophomore is not so bad. It's a long year, but we can comfort ourselves with the fact that after this year our high school careers will be half over. Being a Sophomore is not particularly exciting, but there is a lot to look forward to in the future.

TFL

In the midst of a refreshing walk past the football field during the fall weather, did you ever pass the groups of guys 'tossing around the ol' pigskin' with a true feeling of casual, yet competitive fun? Each autumn, LHS football freaks take to the outdoors for the annual touch football season. Similar to regular football, the objective is touchdowns, but minus the usual tackling; the game uses a 'touch' method of stopping the opponent. There were six teams this year: the "Avengers," the "Necros," the "Eighty-niners II," the "Good, the Bad and the Ugly," "Hang Ten," and the "Bombers."

Due to returning players, the Eighty-niners II took the title of champions. Although they were billed as one of the lowest scoring teams last year, the dedication proved beneficial as they took the title in '88, completely breezing past their opponents. The team, comprised of Seniors

Members of underclass teams were not surprised by the Eighty-niners II's win. "Usually a Senior team wins, and they deserved it. They worked hard and were familiar with the game due to their past experience," stated one underclassman.

But whether you win or lose, the game is great fun — it's the competitive edge of football without the heavy safety equipment. As another player concluded, "The game is much freer without all the 'gear'. You can really get into the sport and enjoy the game."

Go get 'em!

The annual pep rally was again held on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving in the gym. Accompanied by the band, those people who made this year's fall season great were acknowledged. A hand was given to Mrs. Resnick and Mr. D'Agostino, who were retiring in December. A tribute was paid to D'Ag in the form of naming the gym after him, and Senior Class President Gary Chase presented him with a sweatshirt upon which was written "D'Ag is #1."

The triumphs of the fall teams were then recognized, including those of the Football team, who would be playing at East Longmeadow on Thanksgiving morning. After hailing them as the best-looking team he had ever coached, Mr. Deary introduced the Seniors on the football team. Then the cheerleaders appeared with a routine that they had concocted especially for the pep rally; however, their performance this year was different, more acrobatic than usual. This caused a great response on the part of the audience. When asked how the cheerleaders felt about this routine, Junior Rachel Roberts summed it up by saying, "We felt like we were actually doing a sport."

The pep rally did a great job of building up school spirit, and everyone did an equally fine job of sustaining it for the rest of the year.

Grand Old Party

With school cancelled on November fourth due to a teacher's conference, those who attended the Sophomore Semi-Formal on the evening of the third were more than ready to dance their way into the wee hours of the night . . .

As in the past tradition, the dance was held at Chez Joseph; always elegant yet not too stuffy as to put a solemn damper on a good time. The semi-formal began at 7:30, with many couples arriving just about fifteen minutes late, as to avoid appearing too eager or nervous. But once the guests were inside, there was no holding back on the fun!

The evening began with a 'cocktail hour' where everyone got a good look at their classmates - who looked smashing in their dark suits and dresses - all of which were quite unique, with only a few of the girls sporting the same attire. At eight o'clock, the 'doors' were opened to the dining room revealing a beautiful yet simply decorated area. Seats were found and students enjoyed a multi-coursed meal including salad, a main meal, and dessert.

Once the meal was completed, couples and friends took to the floor to dance to the latest hits and old favorites like those from the popular Dirty Dancing film. Set on having a great time, many girls even shirked the responsibility of their high heels and opted to dance in stocking feet. As the night came to an end, students described the dance as "Great," "Lots of clean fun," and "Definitely a time to be remembered!" At midnight, good-byes were said as groups headed either for various parties or for home, but wherever they went, the memory lingered on.

Freshmen

A World To Discover

There are so many new things to discover upon entering LHS as a Freshman . . . two floors of rooms, frigid waters in which to swim, and five choices of lunch! Seriously though, the ominous walls of an unknown institution are soon filled with friendly smiles as you begin to learn the faces and places at the high school. You discover that there are all types of people and various activities you never knew existed! Of course, innocence has its price - who doesn't fall for the old 'let me tell you how to get to the open space (wink, wink!)' and end up at the girls locker room! But just think, it's only four short years until you, yes you, will be pulling the same jokes with your friends and reminiscing about how cookies only use to be fifteen cents! (Who knows what they'll be then?)

It may be strenuous to have to make it to classes in five minutes while trying to remember your schedule, night assignment, dentist appointment, and Outing Club meeting, but as one Freshman optimistically put it, "We're just waiting for next year. Then we'll be the pro's and we can laugh along with everyone else at the befuddled Freshmen!"

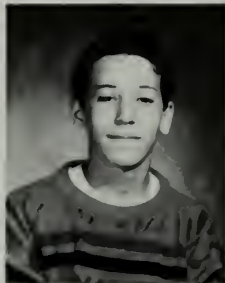

Being a Freshman isn't a barrel of laughs, but it sure makes the year go by quicker when you can take a light-hearted look at yourself!

First Dance

This year the Frosh dared to be different, and took a new approach on an old tradition - the Freshman dance. Titled as a "semi-casual," students were encouraged to wear what they pleased. For most this was a sweater, jeans, and pants or miniskirts for the girls. Though the dance was held in the same style as previous years, a few students actually felt the new title changed on-goers attitudes. "... I felt more relaxed," admitted one student, "the dress-code was stated before hand so I knew that I wouldn't feel out of place having to wonder what to wear!" One relieved boy stated "Thank God this was casual, I had no money to buy my date a corsage!" At 7:30 P.M., students ambled into the school and headed tentatively for the cafeteria - where the dance was held. While it may have been awkward for those first tense moments wondering "who will dance first?" the Freshman really 'rolled with it' once the dance was underway, grooving to the latest tunes by Steve Windwood, INXS, and reminiscing to older tunes by Pink Floyd. Most Freshmen stayed until the dwindling moments of the dance and then headed either out with friends or home to rest weary bones; but few went home disappointed as a good time was had by all. Rounding off the night, one tired dancer wrapped up the dance by noting that "The two schools (Glenbrook and Williams) really proved they've become one, and we're ready to rock on as one class for the next three years!!"

Spike!

Being the most popular Phys. Ed. sport during the year, it was no wonder that the intramural volleyball season was jam-packed with excited players - all out to win the title of champion! The tough competition between the ten boys teams and the eight girls teams made for some intense games and tying scores.

In boys volleyball action, the league was comprised of six Senior teams and four Junior teams: Grendel's Angels, the Dregs, Absolute, Dawgs, Untouchables, Edge II, Bog, 9Neat Guys-1, 2nd 2nun, and the Pit-bulls. While the Seniors took the top two spots in the finals (Edge II and the Untouchables) the Juniors held their ground with Bog coming in third. The scores were close, but the Edge II's record of 6-0 took the lead.

On the other side of the net, five Senior teams and three Junior teams made up the girls league. A three-way tie for first, with a 5-1 record, was held between the Hotshots, Juli's Harlem and Don't Laugh. Coming in behind was the Lushes, Manimals, the Pushers, Force '89, and the Cool Kids.

While some teams basked in the glow of a victorious season, and others barely made it proudly out of the gym, each player got to enjoy what games they played while improving their skills.

The Academic World

Faculty

The faculty - The Academic World. The teachers are the ones who influence us the most, paving the road to our future successes. Specialized in their respective fields, they convey the enthusiasm they feel for their subject to their students in a unique way. All faculty members provide us with the important knowledge we need along with advice to help us through hard times. Their contributions as advisors and coaches are immense, providing the avenue in which we grow socially and round-out our lives. We all have our favorite teacher - the one whom we will always remember, but each and every one of them has positively shaped us.

A Well-Rounded World

Organizations

What makes a well-rounded student? At Longmeadow High School, a person can easily discover an activity which reflects his personal interests, whether it is athletic, intellectual or the arts. There are numerous advantages to being involved. It is an excellent way to meet new people; however trite this expression may be, it is true. These new acquaintances serve as an excellent access into different social circles which complements the person's personality. Also, extra-curricular activities can expose hidden talents others did not always know you possessed. A position of leadership or just being a diligent worker will always earn respect from one's peers. Perhaps, a future career ambition can be recognized while participating in a club. Activities are crucial to a student's well-roundedness because they diversify the personality. The student is not limited to just studies but is given responsibility and a chance to show what he can do. Involvement in school activities is the fundamental contributor to a well-rounded student. It permits the student to expand and appreciate some of his personal attributes.

Masacksic-A World Within

The four years you spend at LHS are unlike any other years of your life. The fun, the friends, the good, and the bad-all memories we'll keep. It is this 'world' of high school that the 1989 Masacksic captured.

Under the direction of a Junior/Senior team of Co-Editors-in-Chief(Lou Spelios and Nancy Damon, respectively), the entire staff worked at record-breaking speeds to preserve the year's memories.

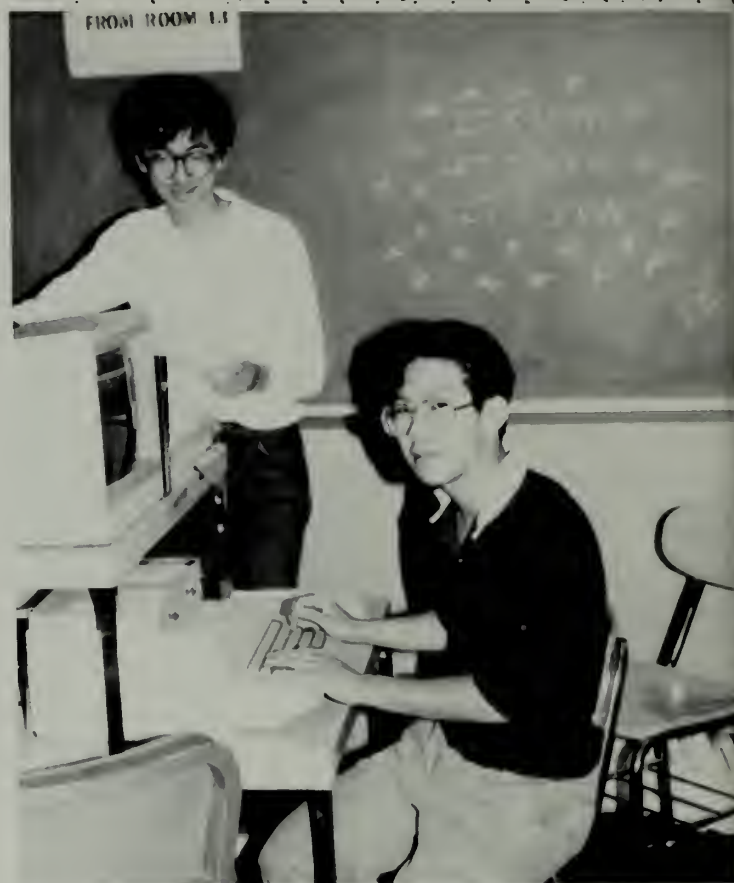

While Senior Editors Cheryl Herman, Shelagh Kelly, and Leah Goldman put together a "new and improved" Senior section, Underclass Editor, Felice Banson, added a touch of class to her section.

The constant burst of flashbulbs was directed under Photography Editor, Barbara Ryan. Ambitious to work and meet the new, earlier deadlines, room 213 was at its busiest moments when editors such as Marla Berson, Tanya Meregian, Leigh Sassen, Tony Rodolakis, Rekha Murthy, and Vicki Lauro met with Advisor Mr. Potvin. The written part of the yearbook was perfected by Computer Editor, John Lin, and Name Spelling Editor, Meng Che Hsieh.

This 'edition' of memories tried to pull out those traits unique to each class; the uncertainty of the Freshmen the fun of the Sophomores, the work load of the Juniors, and the relief of the Seniors. New and innovative ideas were put to use, and the final product is this yearbook-capturing the 'world within'-the world of our high school.

Rough Draft

When asked how she would describe the Rough Draft, one staff member described it as a "funky, creative outlet." Appearing once a month, this year's paper flourished under a newly obtained grant. The funds allowed the RD to focus on its content, rather than seeking supporting advertising. Under the control of advisor William Kirkpatrick and the co-Editors-in-Chief Brian Nathanson and Kathy Raman, the first issue smack-dabbed us in the nose with its "Finally, an issue worth reading ... " headline. (Ah, the ever-comical characters of the Rough Draft staff!) The 'new and improved' humorous paper did not go unnoticed (or un-read!) Not only did this year's RD provide the latest LHS sports news, but also newly revised sections of horoscopes, satire, and personals. Gone were the "Melvin and Moonpuppy" comics, but the improved Rough Draft was still 'chock full o' fun.'

Impressions

Advised by Ms. McShane, Impressions has become a creative literary force at LHS. It is a magazine in which students submit poetry, prose, and art work, each of which had unique substance. Led by a creative and solid staff of veterans and new-comers, there is an excellent chance that Impressions '88-'89 was one of the best! This year Editors-in-chief Sarah Cuncell and Adam Sher along with Colleen Cobbs (layout and graphics editor,) Ariane Vinson (publicity editor,) Sahri Zeger and Yve Kaplan (literary editors,) set many goals for the magazine - each pertaining to the year's theme: individuality, or each person's own "Impressions." Included were foreign pieces which depicted either an exchange students' view of LHS, or a LHS students' views of foreign countries which they visited. According to Kaplan, "This year's Impressions was more creative and unique as it reflected individuality." The appeal lies in the fact that it shows its readers the thoughts of the writers themselves, their environment, and the world.

The Jet Jotter

Over the years, The Jet Jotter has become an institution at L.H.S. Its informative but still light-hearted articles tried to suit a broad range of students. Editor-in-Chief Anne Pomerantz said, "It is important to have stories with which all the students can identify." Managing editor Rob Walat concurred.

This year, with the faculty advisor Mr. Fitzgerald, the Jotter has fulfilled this promise with articles ranging from the decline of M.T.V. to the presidential elections. The Jet Jotter also considered topics such as Semi-Formals and the latest fashions.

The Jotter provides many students with an opportunity to write and edit stories that they would normally not have. It supplies students with current, concise information about our school which is vital to their role as students.

Outing Club

Everybody needs to get away from the pressures of his school work, his social life, or just his life in general. Many have found relaxation from their problems in the Outing Club, which "challenges your self-reliance." In other words, members are taught to survive in the great outdoors. On their trips, the Outing Club does such diverse things as hiking, canoeing, and skiing. They also learn from advisor, Mr. Hirsch, how to do such things as camping in the pouring rain for the weekend, eating rice with larvae, setting up a cabin in Vermont, or cross country skiing through "uncharted" woods.

These trips are not only enjoyable, but they are also ego-boosting; they give one a great feeling of accomplishment. There is nothing like looking down at the view from the top of a towering mountain after a hard climb, or camping out after a long day of hiking or skiing. The Outing Club has become known as a terrific way to just "get away from it all," where, for at least a weekend, nobody has to worry about a thing.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society, otherwise known as NHS, is an organization that recognizes the academic achievements of certain Juniors and Seniors. New members are chosen each year by the faculty on the basis of leadership, scholarship, service, and character. A point system is also used to decide eligibility. For every A earned, two points are awarded. One point is given for a B, none for a C, and one point is taken away for a D. During the Junior year, another point is added for honors and A.P. courses. To be eligible for NHS, a student must have acquired sixteen points by the end of Sophomore year or eighteen points by the end of Junior year.

This year, the organization of over one hundred forty-five members was lead by President Nathan Rudolph, Vice-President Hilary Reiter, Secretary Katherine McMonagle, Social Secretary Scott Fisher, Treasurer Linc Mitchell, and Tutoring Chairpersons Brian Nathanson and Cheryl Murray, and advised by Mrs. Pincus and Mrs. Degon. NHS has continued its policy of free tutoring during school hours and giving small scholarships that are raised by the dues and various fundraisers. Many of the students also could be seen supervising the bookstore during lunches. In addition the society ran the Mentor program at the middle schools. Hopefully, NHS will continue to uphold the practice of academic excellence.

Business Club

With an average turnout of thirty members per meeting, it is obvious that the Business Club has flourished greatly over its three year existence. While the Business Club is considerably 'underground' as compared to the Keyettes or International Club, the constant activity that occurred behind the 'doors' is phenomenal. Advisors Mrs. Browne and Mrs. Morse guided the students through various business-related procedures.

Much like an actual business, the club experienced and participated in a series of give-and-take objectives. These included a type-a-thon to raise $510 for the Leukemia Foundation and listening to a speaker from Ups and Downs clothing store. Not only did students learn from experts, but one was chosen to attend a business workshop at Bently College. This year's recipient was club president Marc Quattrochi. Other officers include Tom Peterson (Committee V.P.), Matt Edgerly (Executive V.P.), Chrissy Beaumier (Secretary), and Jason Lord (Treasurer). What makes this club unique is the dependence on student input and enthusiasm. As Mrs. Morse stated, "The club is designed to meet the students' interest . . . it is for the growth of the students — not to be motivated by adult goals set by advisors — the club is theirs. They (the students) profit more by setting and reaching their own goals." The Business Club really "got down to business," succeeding in all that they did.

American Field Service

The Longmeadow Chapter of A.F.S. was extremely active this year, working together with the town's adult division to both welcome foreign students and send Longmeadow students abroad! This year, Ms. Schwartzberg was the club's advisor. Under the leadership of President Cheryl Murray, Vice President Gary Martenson, Treasurer Kristen Welch, Secretary Jo Bayley, Publicity Chairperson Debbie Murray, and Committee Chairperson Marcia Metz, the group gathered in the school's library every other Tuesday evening.

This year, the club has had some "terrific fundraisers," said Treasurer Kristen Welch. Door-to-door style candy bar sales and a baked goods sale on Parent's Night helped to keep the club in the black.

Art Sribunnak and Aylton Cheroto-Filho, from Thailand and Brazil (respectively), are the two A.F.S. students whom we had the chance to meet this year. Ignacio Martin, from Spain, came to Longmeadow by a different means.

This year's activities included a Halloween Dance with international music, a hayride, a holiday party, the annual trip to Boston's Museum of Fine Arts and legendary Quincy Market, and a trip up to a cabin in Lee, Massachusetts.

Last summer, Longmeadow sent one of its A.F.S. students abroad! Senior Debbie Zides, an avid club member, spent her summer in Switzerland. She called it "the best experience of my life!" How about it? Are you ready for a little foreign flavor in your life?

Debate Team

They're back! After three years in remission, the Debate Team is back and going strong! After excelling in eight debates, the team formed a strong reputation of being tough competitors. They drove long distances to compete - all the way to northern Vermont. At their first competition, Seniors Debbie Zides and Ariane Vinson won the debate, with Debbie Zides winning first place speaker. Debate team members Sophomore Justin Polga and Freshman Mike Nadel came in third. In a large Massachusetts competition at Tabor Academy, Debbie and Ariane placed third of over thirty teams. Other debaters including Sophomores Patricia O'Rourke, Hannah Freedberg, and Freshman Danielle Feldman have been major contributors to the team. Juniors Jeff Quinlan and Anthony Airne did extremely well in a competition at UMass in the beginning of the year. In their first competition of the year, they placed 24th out of 90 teams. Even when competing with teams from New York, Florida, and Georgia, the Debate Team still kept a strong record.

Despite little funding and a small amount of preparation time, the LHS Debate Team is tough to beat.

Chinese Club

The Chinese Club is a rare opportunity for students to acquaint themselves with China and its rich culture. Started four years ago by Chinese teacher Mrs. Su, it is not limited to those who are only taking a Chinese course; anybody who is interested in learning something about Chinese life is welcomed.

According to Junior Gary Martenson, the various projects and activities done have little to do with the Chinese language. Its members, for instance, are known for their wonderful Chinese cooking. They are also taught many crafts, such as the making of hackey-sacks for the use in the Chinese game that is now so popular here. There are, however, two big projects that are done annually. The first is China Night, a show that demonstrates the different aspects of Chinese life to those who attend. Another is a huge Chinese dinner for the members, guests, and the public to demonstrate the cooking skills of the members involved. In the past, these two events have been a great success. Former students held the events in high praise knowing they were sharpening their economics skills while gaining new knowledge.

All in all, the Chinese Club has made students aware of a very different country and culture, and it enables them to have fun in the process.

International Club

A new power arrived on the scene of the Longmeadow High School extra-curricular activity parade in 1988-89: the International Club. Its membership doubling in one year, this politically active club made its mark on the high school in many ways. Under the leadership of President Steven Scibelli and advisor Peter Santos, the club sponsored its first Political Awareness Week during the first week of November. Important speakers from throughout Western Massachusetts spoke at the high school, and the climax of the week was a school-wide simulated election in which students were given the chance to vote on the issues and candidates which will shape our nation. In December, the club sent its top members to the prestigious Harvard Model United Nations to participate with 2000 other students from all across the nation. In February, with the aid of member Alysia Cutting, the International Club sponsored Black History Awareness Day and again many important speakers, as well as an impressive group of performers, visited the high school. Finally, in March, the International Club dominated the Western New England College Model United Nations with phenomenal debate and original proposals on the subjects of Kampuchea and the P.L.O. This group will not merely ride out its successes of 1988-89, so look for the International Club to become even stronger in the coming years!

SADD

SADD, or Students Against Drunk Driving, was revived in 1988 after previous years of near-to-non existence. They met in an effort to warn students about one of the "murderers" among high school-aged kids: drunk driving. By using many effective and original plans of attack, such as poster campaigns around prom season and holidays, students were educated about the deadly effects of mixing your drinks with your vehicle. Such deadly actions are not merely a student concern, but also that of club advisor Mr. Berte. He modestly insured that "the students always took the initiative. All I did was advise and approve their campaign."

This past year, SADD was supported with approximately thirty-five caring individuals. In the words of one member, "drinking may be common for kids our age; our job is not to reprimand - we simply wish to inform students about the dangers of driving under the influence." Another member expressed concern by stating "it may take six beers to get drunk - but it only takes one accident to get killed. We hope to prevent that."

ABC/METCO

The ABC and METCO programs have been around for many years, and they are designed to give students who are not from Longmeadow the same educational opportunities that those of us at LHS have.

METCO buses minority students from Springfield to Longmeadow every day. Besides giving these kids a better education, METCO integrates the Longmeadow schools. Although it is hard living in another town, they manage to adapt to the distance extremely well, and even participate in many sports and clubs.

ABC, alias A Better Chance, is made up of kids who come from large high schools in various cities all over the country. The better educational opportunities that they find here enable them to go to very prestigious and well-known schools. The students live together in a designated ABC house with two residential directors, and they help to finance the program with an annual road race, a tag sale, and also with personal donations.

The students from the ABC and METCO programs do not have a problem with fitting in among the LHS students. Hopefully ABC and METCO will continue providing kids with great education for years to come, and providing LHS with new faces to meet.

Chess Club

The Chess Club this year was very active, involving between ten and twenty members. Anyone was welcome to join regardless of their chess-playing ability. During meetings, the players concentrated on opening moves and various strategical plays to put the other player into a checkmate.

Before every competition the Chess Club held play-offs to determine which five players would represent the school in the upcoming competition.

Last year, the Chess Club had a victorious season. They placed first in their league, first in Western Massachusetts, and second in the state. Mrs. Sutter, the club's advisor, was unsure if this year would be as successful, because many key players have since graduated. However, the team has done its best to make this another great year, and keeping the others in checkmate.

As Schools Match Wits/Math Team

The Math Team had a very successful year under the direction of Mr. Daniels. The team, consisting of Seniors Gordon Elgart and Irene Ho, Juniors Anthony Airne and Felice Banson, and four alternates was selected from a group of over twenty people in September. They were involved in five meets this year. At each one, six categories were presented; each player participated in three. At one meet in the fall, Longmeadow went to Deerfield Academy where they came in fourth place out of fifteen schools, losing to the strong teams from Amherst, Central, and Deerfield.

The As-Schools-Match-Wits team also competed very well this year with the help of advisor Ms. Schwartzberg. Every member practiced hard and the team appeared on the well-known television show. Going on television was nerve-racking for them, but they did quite well. The players included Seniors Gordon Elgart, Brian Nathanson, Robert Walat, and Sophomore Maurice Pomerantz. All in all, the Math Team and the As-Schools-Match-Wits Team had a good year, enjoying themselves to the fullest extent while still working hard.

Keyettes

Keyettes: Designed to serve you and your community. A brief explanation alone could not describe all the work that goes in (and comes out) of being in such a club. Endless hours of community service and fundraising brought together a well-respected group of hard workers. Monday evening meetings were spent designing new ideas and projects and discussing useful ways to fill the minimum ten hours of volunteering. Though it seemed that the Keyettes' deeds may have gone virtually unnoticed, they didn't take their work lightly. Students who failed to meet the ten hour requirement were removed from the club and replaced by eager awaiters, ensuring the consistent success of the club.

Funds came in from various sources this year: Phone-a-thons, the Valentine's Day carnation sale, and the recent edition of foam hands being sold at sports events. Maybe you saw the large 'hand' with "Lancers" written on top? Fun and unusual, they proved to really lend a "helping hand" to this year's treasury! While spectators cheered on the teams, the Keyettes were also cheered on as each five dollar purchase was put towards a good cause, such as the home for the elderly and various health organizations.

Always there to support our community, the Keyettes worked very hard to provide for the common good.

Key Club

Another year of success bestowed itself upon the 85 member Key Club. With an outstanding record of community service work, it has continued the legacy of previous years. Led by President John Murphy, 1st Vice-President Candy Jalonen, 2nd Vice-President Dennis Hebert, Secretary Joel Van Amberg, and Treasurer Todd Butler, the officers undertook a number of well-managed projects. The annual Variety Show raised a record amount of $ 5000 for the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Institute in Boston. In addition, they sold concessions and ushered football and basketball games, raised $2000 for the rescue of M.I.A.'s in Vietnam, and collected almost 100 toys for the Toys for Tots program. This spring, the club had an auction whose proceeds were slated to start a drug addiction out-patient program in Longmeadow High School, as well as a "Battle of the Bands" to raise money for the homeless.

The Key Club, advised by Mr. Crumb, is in its twentieth year of operation. It is open to all students who are willing to spend 10 hours per month serving their community and their school. Without a doubt, the Key Club will build upon its past success and continue to make the town and the school proud of its work.

Drama Club

"It's all ensemble work," agreed the cast of This is the Rill Speaking - the 1989 Drama production entered in the Massachusetts State Drama Festival. "It took a tight group that believed in ourselves, our characters, and each other." As one review of the play (itself) stated, it was "strands woven together" to form a unified idea or theme. That held true both in and out of the play, as a diverse and talented group of students merged to put forth one of the finest plays in the state. Juniors Doug Dickerman, Karen Lee, Matt Johnson, and Rob Templeton along with Seniors Yve Kaplan and Ariane Vinson formed a six character cast. Meanwhile, a crew of Seniors Stephanie Wiseman (producer), Brian Makarewicz (technical director), Vanessa Hoyt (props), and Junior Miriam Goldsmith (props) supported with sturdy sets and faultless lighting. Under the direction of Mr. Mucci, the group placed first in the preliminary levels and went on to compete in the semi-finals in Belmont, MA.

Upholding LHS's tradition of excellence in theater, This is the Rill Speaking earned its highly acclaimed reputation as being a brilliantly directed and acted play. The fun and excitement was well summed up by first year performer Vinson, who breathlessly exclaimed that "the whole experience was fabulous. The people, the stage, the 'jitters', the anticipation, and the enthusiasm and energy was all so exciting. I'll be thinking about (and remembering) this for years to come!"

A Dog Eat Dog World

Sports

At one time or another, we have all participated in a sport and felt its thrill. In school, competition begins Freshman year in August's much dreaded pre-season. At this time, we fight for a position on a Varsity, JV, or Freshman team. The competition continues, on the track, rink, or field, until the last game of our Senior year. Throughout the seasons, we experience triumphs and heartbreaks. From scrimmages to Western Massachusetts tournaments, the meaning of "A Dog Eat Dog World" becomes clear. Competition is stiff; winning becomes very important and leaving behind a trophy or record is a dream to be accomplished. Although it may become intense, it is the enjoyment of participation which is most important.

Football

Slow Start, Strong Finish

This year's football season at L.H.S. left Coach Deary's heart full of pride. Playing strong teams across the board, coach stated that "we won some games and we lost some games, but overall our season was eventful." The team was a real blend of both young and old players. The strength and enthusiasm of the experienced players was carried to those who weren't as well seasoned. This united team effort helped to win many games that might have been lost without such spirit.

Although they didn't win every game, the players made a good showing at each. Some of the most exciting games ever played by L.H.S. were against Chicopee Comp. and Amherst. Coach Deary said that "as those games got moving, one could really feel the emotion and spirit of the team!"

After both a productive and instructive season, the team pushed forward to the annual Thanksgiving Day game against East Longmeadow. Even though they didn't play on their own "turf," the Lancers made L.H.S. proud with a 27-0 victory.

Girls Soccer Finds Its Strength In Team Unity

The Girl's Varsity Soccer team scored their way through an excellent season with a 10-2-2 record- deservedly reaching the post-season tournament. Key players included Senior Kat Moynahan, Junior Stephanie Lyons, Sophomores Tammy Butler, Kim VanGaasbeck, and Freshman Rachel LeDuc. With experienced defensive players and an aggressive new offensive lineup, the Lancers were well-rounded. The Varsity team showed true group spirit and the teammates were very close, rarely becoming disappointed when they lost a game. As VanGaasbeck stated, "Mr. McCarthy always had something good to say about every game."

Because the Junior Varsity team dropped down a league this year, they obtained a record of 12-2-0, the best record in the J.V. history of LHS under the direction of Joanne Kotwicki. Sophomores Laurel Hayes, Sonya Schwartz, Jodi Stevens, and Freshman Tina Vivenzio were the key players who led the rest of the team to victory.

The Freshman Girls Soccer team had a remarkable season as well with a final outcome of 5-2-2. They played mostly Junior Varsity teams, but they had an advantage over their opponents because many members had already been playing soccer for five or six years. Future Varsity players included Aimee Gelinas, Mara Green, Alison Sisitsky, and Carrie Bullock. Although defense was their strongest asset, the team managed to score every game. Coach Delano felt that most of the girls would certainly find a spot on the J.V. or Varsity teams next year.

With optimism like that, Girls Soccer should be just as successful in future years.

Close But No Cigar

The Longmeadow Varsity Soccer team had a respectable season with a record of 5-8-2. The Lancers were only one point away from tying for second place which would have qualified them for the state tournament. Outstanding players included Senior forward Tony Cardoropoli, who scored the most goals, and Sophomore goalie Seth Shomes. The Varsity team scored 25 goals; 13 goals in only three games and 12 goals in the other 12 games. With many talented underclassmen that were on the Varsity team, Coach Morrisette is positive that the future is bright.

The Junior Varsity Team, coached by Mr. LeBlanc, had a record breaking season. With a record of 7-7-1, the Lancers had the best season they have had in eight years. The J.V.'s outstanding defensive players included Junior co-captain Matt Dullea, Sophomore co-captain John Bennett and Sophomores Chad Reynolds, Andrew Lovell and goalie Aaron Boyajian. Key players in the offense included Junior Brian Wallace and Sophomore Devin O'Rourke.

The Freshman Team had an incredible season with a record of 3-4-3. They started the season weak but then had a great comeback by winning their last three games. Center halfback Jeff Glenn and goalie Steve McCall were voted by the team as the most valuable players of the season. The Freshmen's strong point was their defense.

The Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Freshman teams all had good seasons. With many talented players on all the teams, next year is sure to be even better!

Field Hockey

Another Season Of Success

According to Coach Ann Simons, this year was one of rebuilding for the Varsity Field Hockey team. With the graduation of nine Seniors, the team was left with only four starters from last year: Junior Jackie Joseph and Senior tri-captains Michelle Ormsby, Tiffany Ratner, and Chrissy Ferioli. Among others, five new Seniors, Lauren Florio, Shelagh Kelly, Heidi Fisher, Brittany Hoff, and Jaime Margolis, were recruited. Others on the team were Juniors Jo Bayley, Bonnie Kittredge, Beth Stenstrom, Ilana Teres, a lone Sophomore, Krissy Dolce, and Freshman goalie, Emily Lord.

Although they did not advance in the Western Massachusetts playoffs after a tournament loss to Northampton, this young team had a wonderful year, with nine wins and five losses. Who could forget their brilliant 2-0 shutout of Minnechaug, or their stunning 4-1 victory over West Springfield? It was in games such as these that the strengths of various members were displayed to advantage. Jackie Joseph, Tiffany Ratner, Chris Ferioli, and Jo Bayley have been the top scorers. Ratner and Beth Stenstrom, declared by the Longmeadow News as the "unsung heroes of the team," put in strong performances, and Emily Lord showed that she has a very bright future as a goalie.

Junior Varsity field hockey had a good year as well, with a record of five wins, two losses, and three ties. Led by Sophomore captains Erinn Bartlett and Lisa Cerasa, and coached by Elizabeth "Buzzy" Hayes, J.V. also had its share of talent, including top scorer Lisa Cooney. With the enormous amount of ability here, J.V. promises to have another fine season in the future.

Vaults Its Way To Victory

The Gymnastics Team had a winning season this year. With a record of 8-4, they managed to defeat Minnechaug, a team which they haven't beaten for many years. This season has been particularly challenging for the gymnasts because of their move up from the B division to the A division, a more difficult league. Seniors Dawn Gales, Kathy Raman, Amy Rickless, Stephanie Napoli, Ellie Julian, Sophomore Traci Marchese and Freshman Jen Lak have all been important assets to the team. Dawn Gales, who is captain along with Kathy Raman, has broken three school records! Coach Harry Stockhammer feels that this has been one of the best teams the school has had in many years.

The team won enough games to become eligible to compete in the Western Massachusetts tournament. Most of the gymnasts on the team felt that the main reason for their team's success was due to their team spirit and togetherness. Each member of the team was always there to support one another, and they always worked together as a whole.

The fans of the gymnastic team have given a definite "thumbs up" signal as a reaction the team's great success in this season.

Cross Country

Runs To Ninth Winning Season

Despite a slow start, the Boy's Cross Country team posted another strong season. After winning the first meet, the team succumbed to their next five opponents. Not to be discouraged, the team whipped their last five adversaries to end the season with a 6-5 record and a fourth place finish in the Suburban League. The team was led during this late season surge by the outstanding performances of Seniors Mike Steele, Mike Lawrence, Kevin Delaney, Scott Fisher, Junior Gary Martenson, Sophomore Jason Nietupski, and Freshman Mike Gregorski. This was their ninth consecutive winning season.

The man mostly responsible for the team's success is their dedicated coach, Mr. Winseck. For the past eighteen years, he has pushed each runner to be the best he could possibly be. This was Mr. Winseck's last year as coach, and he will be truly missed.

Although six of the top runners are graduating, the future appears bright. Junior Gary Martenson will return next year trying to improve upon his team best of 16 minutes and 36 seconds on the home course. Other outstanding underclassmen runners include Junior Richard Balakier, Sophomores Jason Nietupski, John Mayock, and Freshman Mike Gregorski.

Girls X-Country Pushes Its Endurance

The Girls Cross Country team ended their season with a 4-7 record. However, this statistic does not show the team's dedication and personal improvement. Those two characteristics most accurately describe this year's team.

This team was probably the most devoted group Longmeadow had to offer. Rain or shine, the team, which was made up of eleven girls, could be seen running either on the track or around town. They worked very hard at both short and long distances. Second year coach Lianne Pennington trained them so that each member could run at her peak ability.

Although the team had a losing record, almost everybody improved their times. Some of the best times of the season were recorded by Seniors Kristen Welch, Julie Walthouse, Cathy Shea, Sophomores Nancy MacElhiney, Kelly Daisley, and Marcia Metz. Special recognition goes to Freshman Michelle Lewis, who improved by over eight minutes from her first race to her last.

The future looks bright for the Lancers. Among the girls are four Sophomores and two Freshmen, all of whom show promising ability. With this underclass strength, combined with the same hard work and desire to excel that the team has shown this past year, the Lancers should be big winners in 1989.

Cheerleaders

Give A Yell For The Team

The Lancer's Varsity cheerleaders clapped, yelled, and stamped out their support this year during the football and basketball seasons. The talented girls proved that their sport was to be taken seriously. Lazy afternoon practices were a thing of the past; the cheerleaders stuck to tough, solid, two-hour long workouts led by their spirited and talented coaches, Jodi and Lisa, who brought the girls to a new level of cheerleading. Five days a week, they could be seen developing a new style and perfecting difficult, unique stunts that wowed LHS at the Pep Rally when the moves were incorporated into an impressive routine created by the squad and their coaches. Their efforts were greatly appreciated this year.

Led by Senior Captains Kristin Bergin and Stefanie Perguidi, the girls were also involved with a new cheering sport as they entered numerous competitions in the late winter and early spring, which gave them a chance to put their hard work to the test against other high school squads. Their competitive edge was influenced by their coaches as well as attendance at the National Cheerleaders' Association camp this past summer, where they faced tedious hours of grueling practices directed by professional cheerleaders. The team returned home sore and tired, but filled with new ideas, stunts, friendships, and memories.

Over the '88 - '89 year, the Varsity cheerleaders worked hard, developed a new style, and had a serious attitude toward the sport of cheerleading. The Junior Varsity squad was led by Sophomore Captains Beth Cullinan and Donna Serafino. They also worked hard to prepare themselves for Varsity and to make sure they would be ready for the new standards required to be a Varsity cheerleader. The dedication of the Varsity and JV squads in 1988 and 1989 insured the standard created, glossing their future and the school's tradition of excellence.

Maintains Its Winning Streak

They dribbled, they scored, they succeeded. Yes . . . they were the 1989 Boys Basketball teams. From the dedicated Freshman to the explosive JV and an aggressive Varsity team, 1989 proved to be one of the best seasons for Boys Basketball.

Led by the knowledgeable Seniors Matt Auth, Todd Butler, Chris Crosby, Tom Kotwicki and Junior Jeff Peterson, the Varsity team achieved its goal of victory. As Chris Crosby said, "The team far surpassed our initial expectations because of the camaraderie and team spirit." Nineteen-year veteran Coach Morissette believed that their achievement was due to a blending of talent towards the team concept. After ending their season and shooting over 350 baskets, Varsity Basketball had every right to be proud. As stated by key player Senior Rob Walat, "We were good."

Boys JV Basketball had an exciting season also. The twelve member team worked together to beat their arch-rival (Central) thanks to key players such as Sophomores John Bennett, Aaron Boyajian and Junior Rick McCullough. They practiced every week day and Saturdays, enduring endless hours of sweat. Sophomore Matt Sullivan described the JV team as "Finely tuned like the engine of a formula-1 sports car."

LHS is lucky to have the knowledge of the Freshman team with them for three more years. The dedicated team, including key players Jeff Glenn, Todd Levine, Steve McCall and Brad Miller, defeated its rival Agawam after being behind 15 points. Freshman Dave Dibble said, "We had a really well-rounded team, with strong starters and a strong bench ready to sub at all times, this is why we had a successful season."

Girls Basketball

A Good Tip-Off To a Great Season

This year, the Girls Basketball teams had a great season. Varsity finished with a record of 11-8. The main competitors of the Varsity team were Cathedral, Agawam, and Northampton. Out of these three teams, they lost only to Agawam. The Varsity team had a strong defense and a very balanced offense. However, they had a lot of turnovers, and needed to take better care of the ball. The leading scorers on the team were Sophomore Tammy Butler, Seniors Sharon Mauri, Kat Moynahan, and Katie Tremble. This year, Varsity was fortunate enough to have seven Seniors on the team who all contributed in making this year's team as good as possible. Tammy Butler stated, "The team's success had a lot to do with the team effort and support all of the players gave to each other."

The Junior Varsity team, like the Varsity team, had a successful season this year, with a record of 13-6. Their main competitor was Agawam, whom they managed to beat 36-32 after four overtimes. JV's strong point was a very good defense. Their leading players were Sophomores Emily Heaphy on offense and Beth Sibilia on defense. JV's reason for success was mainly because everyone on the team had equal basketball skills, and they all worked well together.

Many extra students were interested in playing basketball this year, so for the first time a Freshman team was formed. Due to the lack of Freshman teams from other schools, our team, in many instances, was forced to play JV teams. Considering their situation, they did extraordinarily well with a record of 5-3.

Although seven Varsity team members will be leaving next year, they will not be in a desperate situation due to talented upcoming players from our JV and Freshman teams.

With a flash of black and grey through the clear waters, the swim team sped from starting block to finish line as if born in the water. Their 1989 season proved to be one of their best, breaking records left and right. The boys team, coached by Mrs. Fraser and Mr. Clark, could be seen the last week before Western Mass. sporting shaved heads and legs-hopping to increase their already quick times. Senior tri-captains Marc Quattrochi, Linc Mitchell, and Mike Spink led the team through an enthusiastic season of repetitious warm-ups and strenuous practices. Their work proved beneficial as both mentally and physically each individual felt ready to compete in the Western Mass. Championship.

The girls team was equally profitable in their constant drive and energy. Led by Coach Carter, they were to be commended for such intense work. Key swimmers were Seniors Jen Masi and Kathy Walsh. Promising returning Juniors included Jessica Sinsigalli, Angie Germino, and Cristina Napoli. The girls swam and kicked their way to Western Mass., hoping to continue their tradition of excellence.

The Diving Team, although relatively new and inexperienced, enjoyed a fantastic season-with the help of Senior Nick Evangelidi who helped pull the team to victory in many close meets.

With a promising crop of under-class talent, future years of swimming look as clear and bright as the bottom of the pool when wearing a pair of goggles.

Skiing Cruising Down The Slopes

Once again, the ski teams had a wonderful season. Led by Senior captains Mark Lantz and Stephanie Wiseman, the boys and girls teams both placed high in the "A" division of the Western Massachusetts competition. The boys finished in sixth place and the girls in second, qualifying them for the state competition.

For those who were able to get through the workouts in the pool hallway and the time trials at Berkshire East to make the team, the dry land training and the races that coaches St. George and Kimball led them through were equally rigorous. Although the snow was scarce, the teams were able to keep their spirits high; this helped to hold them together. They also learned that "winning meets is only part of what makes a good ski team"; the other parts, of course, are spirit and dedication, of which there was an abundance.

The results of all of this work are two terrific ski teams, in which there were several standouts. Two such people were Mark Lantz and Stephanie Wiseman, who place third and fifth, respectively, in the their division of Western Mass; these triumphs qualified them for the Bay State Games. Freshman Rachael LeDuc came in eighth in the same meet. Congratulations to the ski teams for a great season.

Hockey

Facing Off To A New Season

"They worked hard at working together," Coach Suzor said of his young hockey team. Ten of the sixteen players on the team were either Freshmen or Sophomores and even one of the Seniors, Chris Winn, was new to the team. However, no one could have been prouder of the job they did. Though the season did not turn out to be a winning one with a record of 6-11-2, there were plenty of highlights. Who could forget their 12-0 win against Holyoke? One of the best games of the season was against West Springfield, even though the Lancers lost 5-2. Seniors Colin LeDuc and Tad Durrenberger were regarded by many as one of the best pairs of defensivemen in the league. Junior forward Brendon Hutchins, Sophomore forwards Eric LeDuc, Jason Nietupski, Sophomore goalies Tony Rousou and Tony Rusiecki were other players that proved to be important to the team. Everyone agrees that Senior Mike Steele was one of the hardest working players, often winning the "Hustler of the Game" Award.

Next year, the hockey team should be in good shape with many seasoned players. Although not winning in record, the hockey team was a winner in effort, spirit, and morale. With a majority of young players, the future looks very bright.

Wrestling

All Hopes Are Pinned On Them

For the past two years, the Wrestling team has consistently proved itself to be a Western Massachusetts powerhouse. This year's team was very successful with a record of 11-4. One of the biggest reasons for this success was the outstanding leadership and wrestling ability of Coach Schmutz, a former New England champion and first year Assistant Coach Barrett.

Headlined by Senior captains Paul Mauri, Mitch Feinsod, Mike Pepin, and Scot Swords, the group consisted of many superb talents. Each of the captains was among the best in Western Mass. in their respective weight class. Clearly one of the highlights of this season was the West Springfield Invitational Wrestling Tournament on January 14. There, the team won its first major tournament in its twenty five year history. Among the individual results were first place finishes by Feinsod, Mauri, Pepin, and Matt Dullea. Four other members also finished in second and third place. This strong showing has symbolized the 1989 Wrestling Team.

The Business World

Ads

The Business World - what all of us are destined to become a part of; be it buyer or seller. Businesses give the country economic stability and provide aspiring teen-agers with jobs, giving them more "stability" in the years of college tuition payments. Jobs also provide students with a chance to meet people and experience the need to not only survive the outside world, but to also learn that honesty and hard work will lead to success. Local businesses are also a great asset to the yearbook, for their generous contributions help to lower the price of the book - while adding a touch of class! Opposite Page, Top Left- Vice-President George Bush, after serving for eight years in the Ronald Reagan administration, got the expected nod at the Republican National Convention in New Orleans on August 17, 1988. His choice for running mate was Senator Dan Quayle of Indiana. The team went on to win The White House in a 40-state sweep.

Opposite Page, Far Left- The summer of 1988 was hit with the worst drought in many years. Throughout the midwest, farmers watched helplessly as their crops went dry.

Above Middle Left- Hurricane Gilbert rose out of the Caribbean like a giant wind storm in late September. By the time it lost its hurricane status over northeastern Mexico, it had killed more than 300 people, left hundreds of thousands homeless and caused billions of dollars in damage to the Caribbean, Central America, Mexico, and the United States.

Middle Left- Heavyweight boxer Mike Tyson married actress Robin Givens. The stormy marriage lasted less than a year, with her subsequent filing of divorce. But after being accused of marrying "Iron Mike" for his money, Ms. Givens said she wouldn't take a dime.

Above- The Democrats went to Atlanta in July of 1988, and decided on Michael Dukakis, the governor of Massachusetts, to be its candidate for President of the United States. He decided to pick Lloyd Bentsen, a senator from Texas, as his running mate.

Left- The shuttle Discovery blasted into orbit in September, the first space flight since the shuttle Challenger mission ended tragically 73 seconds after liftoff on Jan. 28, 1988. The Discovery ended its successful four day, 16 million mile mission with a triumphant landing at Edwards Air Force Base in California.

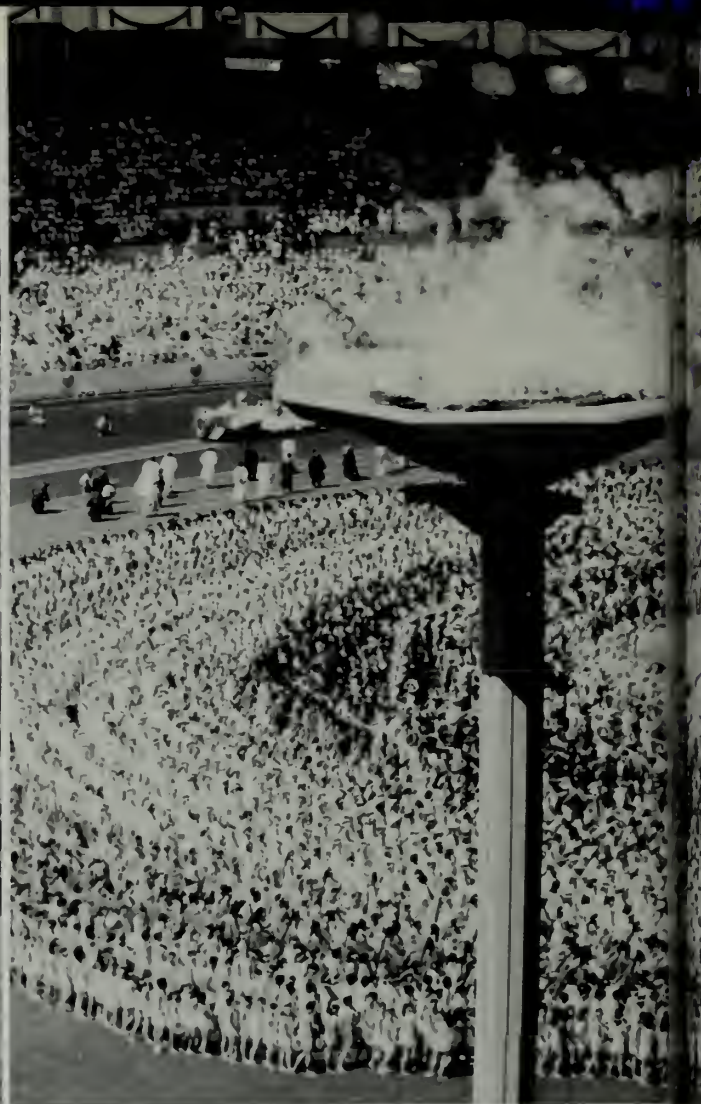

Above - Forest fires spread throughout the western part of the country in the summer of 1988, destroying millions of acres of national parkland. The most heavily damaged was Yellowstone National Park.

Above Right - The 1988 Summer Olympics in Seoul, South Korea opened with a dramatic and dazzling ceremony. A colorful, three-hour spectacle mixing ancient Korean rituals with space-age technology kicked off 16 days of athletic competition.

Above Far Right - President Ronald Reagan and Soviet Leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev worked for several years to bring the two countries together. After a treaty was signed to eliminate certain nuclear weapons, 1988 was the year the efforts of these two leaders went into effect.

Far Right - The World Series belonged to the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Dodgers captured their sixth World Series title in October with a 5-2 victory over the Oakland A's in the fifth game of the series.

An Extra Special Thanks To:

Mr. Potvin -Our advisor who kept us sane while the Senior section was being put in alpha order.

Mr. Lendry -For understanding what we meant when we didn't.

George and Barbara Schaler -For making Hartford their second home.

Mrs. Dudley -For the use of her phone and lab.

The Custodians -For welcoming us in during vacation.

The Club Advisors -For letting us take their picture several times.

Our Parents -For keeping dinner warm.

Barb, I need ten rolls of film for tomorrow! . . . Tony, have you gotten all your pictures in yet? . . . Meng, our Ninja Name Checker . . . Yeah, yeah, sure, Tanya, your tape is coming . . . Sounds a bit lofty to me . . . Lou, for the last time, we are not putting a quote from Bush or Reagan in the Senior section! . . . Colored chalk arrives in room 213 . . . Felice, what color is the diagonal-30% grey? . . . Nancy, do you want to take Lou's political test? . . . How many deadlines are left? . . . Vicki and Rekha, how's the "Adopt-a-Teacher" going? . . . Debbie and Marla-how many more do we need? . . . Dave, still dropping out at 16? . . . Let's look at the Penn State book? Do we have to take that club again? . . . Black Wednesday-the day the error was discovered in the Senior section . . . I think it's about time to quiet Josh in homeroom . . . John, where are your typists? . . . Bryant College . . . Is Vicki ever on time to homeroom? . . . Yes, Mr. P., we have an alphabetical Senior section-so there . . . The Senior Triad-Cheryl, Leah, and Shelagh-great job! . . . a Potvin caption always works . . . Leigh, don't worry, we know you can whip those pages out on Fridays! . . . Yve-is it with a "Y" or an "E"? . . . Don't move it, I wanted it there . . . It's not my fault!

Wild World

Now that I've lost everything to you, you say you want to start something new, and it's breaking my heart you're leaving, baby I'm grieving. But if you wanna leave take good care, hope you have a lot of nice things to wear, but then a lot of nice things turn bad out there. Oh baby baby it's a wild world, it's hard to get by just upon a smile. Oh baby baby it's a wild world, I'll always remember you like a child, girl. You know I've seen a lot of what the world can do, and it's breaking my heart in two, cause I never want to see you sad girl, don't be a bad girl, but if you want to leave take good care, hope you make a lot of nice friends out there, but just remember there's a lot of bad and beware, beware. Oh baby baby it's a wild world, it's hard to get by just upon a smile. Oh baby baby it's a wild world, and I'll always remember you like a child, girl. Baby I love you, but if you wanna leave take good care, hope you make a lot of nice friends out there, but just remember there's a lot of bad, and beware, beware, oh baby baby it's a wild world, it's hard to get by just upon a smile. Oh baby baby it's a wild world, and I'll always remember you like a child, girl.
